From the Diakonia of Christ to the Diakonia of the Apostles International Theological Commission

This historico-theological research document traces the history of the diaconate from the time of Christ through the post - Vatican II period. This is an invaluable resource for all deacons. Its chapters include 'The Diaconate in the New Testament and in the Writings of the Fathers', 'The Reality of the Permanent Diaconate Today', and 'A Theological Approach to the Diaconate in the Wake of Vatican II'. The book is the result of five years of research and study on the history and theology of the diaconate by the International Theological Commission. The International Theological Commission is a pontifical commission of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith. The commission advises the congregation regarding important doctrinal matters. The commission is composed of theologians from various schools and nations, known for their scholarship and fidelity to the magisterium of the Church. The commission devoted over five years of research and study to the topic of the history and theology of the diaconate in its development of this document. Published by Liturgy Training Publications.
