Alfa Romeo Sports Coupés 1954-1989 Graham Robson

Since the 1930s the Alfa tradition of sporting coup/233s has been as strong as that of their incomparable open cars. But the coup/233s, while sometimes overlooked, have arguably been even finer cars than open-topped siblings and they have certainly had more than their fair share of success in competition. This new book, by well-known motoring writer Graham Robson, looks at the classic pedigree of Alfa coup/233s, from the Giulietta in 1954 to the end of Alfasud Sprint and Alfetta production in the 1980s. Well-illustrated and including comprehensive specification tables and copious information on design, production and performance, this is the only book a fan of these fine cars will ever need.
